Northern Air Cargo Announces Personnel Changes

Northern Air Cargo announces changes within their management structure, all effective October 1, 2008.

The new Vice-President of Cargo Services, David Squier, has been with NAC for almost a year as their Director of Cargo Services. Mr. Squier came to NAC with over 23 years of experience in the Alaska Aviation industry and has been instrumental in modernizing and streamlining their cargo handling processes. He will continue his responsibility for customer service and cargo handling.

NAC's new Director of Sales is Mark Liland. Mr. Liland has been an Account Manager with NAC for almost three years focusing primarily on the seafood and petroleum services industries. A lifelong Alaskan, Mr. Liland has been working in transportation, sales, and marketing for the last 19 years. He will oversee a sales team covering much of the state.

Northern Air Cargo is Alaska's oldest all-cargo airline. Headquartered in Anchorage, they have bases in Bethel, Fairbanks, and Deadhorse.
